

WE'RE SEEKING CLINICIANS TO TAKE PART IN SMALL, ONLINE FOCUS GROUPS TO PROVIDE EXPERTISE IN THE REVIEW OF THE REGISTRY'S QUALITY INDICATORS AND QI REPORTING.

HOW TO REGISTER:

We're offering multiple sessions between April 29–May 6 at various times and days to maximize participation opportunities. To register, please click here to provide your details and select the session you'd like to attend.

HOW YOUR INPUT WILL SHAPE THE PROJECT SUCCESS:

Your expertise and feedback will directly shape how PCOR-ANZ quality indicators and reports are designed, delivered, and used to drive meaningful improvements in prostate cancer patient outcomes.

As clinicians in the PCOR ANZ, you are primary users of QI information. Your input will:

- Assess the clinical relevance of existing quality indicators.
- Identify gaps and propose new indicators that align with current practice.
- Improve the format and accessibility of QI reports to increase usability.
- Ensure QI reports provide timely, actionable insights for quality improvement.

WHY ARE WE REVIEWING THE QUALITY INDICATORS & REPORTS?

PCOR-ANZ provides QI benchmarking reports comparing institutions and clinicians using standardized, evidence-based measures. These indicators have remained largely unchanged for over 10 years. This initiative, guided by clinician input, seeks to update, and enhance the relevance and usefulness of the indicators.

OTHER WAYS TO CONTRIBUTE TO THIS PROJECT:

Even if you're unable to join the focus group, we still want to hear from you. We welcome your feedback via email. Also, there will also be additional opportunities to contribute through a clinician survey that will be a follow up to the focus groups.
