Presenting at the AUA 2023 with the support of the Daniel Christidis scholarship was an excellent experience. It provided me with the ability to showcase novel Australian research to an international meeting where I was able to discuss our project with many urologists and researchers from around the world.

In particular, it allowed me to discuss setting up an international collaboration with Guys and St Thomas' hospital, London which is now in the process of setting up a clinical trial of this Australian device.

I would like to thank USANZ and RACS for the conference support provided by this scholarship. I also wish to thank the Christidis family for their ongoing support of USANZ and Australian urological research by trainees through this scholarship.

No suggestions for improvement. Thanks for your help,

Regards

Jonathan
