

HAVE YOUR SAY

WE'RE INVITING ALL PCOR-ANZ CLINICIANS TO COMPLETE A SHORT SURVEY ABOUT THE REGISTRY'S QUALITY INDICATORS (QI) AND QI REPORTING

PCOR-ANZ needs clinicians to provide expertise in the review of the registry's Quality Indicators (QI) and QI reporting. Our goal is to ensure the PCOR-ANZ QI Reports remain clinically relevant, actionable, and aligned with contemporary prostate cancer care practices – as well as being easier for you to access and use.

Thank you to those who have already agreed to participate in our focus groups. Now, we are seeking an even wider ranging input from across the PCOR-ANZ clinician cohort.

Participation in this survey complements the focus groups and is another opportunity to help shape the future of PCOR-ANZ's QIs and reporting.

HOW TO COMPLETE THE SURVEY

The survey takes approximately 10 minutes to complete and can be accessed via this link or QR code below.

HOW WE'LL USE YOUR FEEDBACK

The QI Review Project aims to ensure the PCOR-ANZ Quality Indicator Reports remain clinically relevant, actionable, and aligned with contemporary prostate cancer care. Your insights will help:

- Evaluate the usefulness of current indicators and reports
- Identify gaps or outdated measures
- Suggest improvements to indicator definitions, formats, and report accessibility
- Enhance how QI data supports care quality and patient outcomes

CAN'T ATTEND A FOCUS GROUP? YOUR VOICE STILL MATTERS.

Whether or not you joined a focus group, your feedback through the survey is vital to ensure the indicators and reports meet your needs and reflect current clinical practice. Together, these activities will guide improvements to how PCOR-ANZ reports are designed, delivered, and used to support better care for men with prostate cancer.
